

The Great Beauty

The Greatest beauty of life
The mystery that lies within all things.

You have so many names, so many shapes yet formless, without you nothing remains.
Your light is so bright, we cannot hold on to shadows
Your beauty shines through all things

We can't always see it but if we could, the 'I' would melt Rays of light would flow over the world and all would be at peace

Let us do so
Let us pray for beauty in this world
Let us live to love
Let us live to love

We are billions and we are one We were all born on a multicoloured stage as musicians of different sounds

We were all given beautiful tools not to fight with nor to grasp each other but to play harmoniously

The great composer is no one but us
The melody we wish to hear is the one we have to play

Watching, listening, following the conductor Our music is the secret alchemy that transforms the darkness into clear light in this world of great beauty

Let us do so
Let us pray for beauty in this world
Let us live to love
Let us live to love

Our arms lifted in surrender
Our heart opens Our mind is free lifting the big gates of ignorance and suffering

So that the river of love can flow all over the world so that we can swim happily in the ocean of great bliss

Let us use our life in a harmless way washing away the wrong habits Let us use our life in a meaningful way walking with joy the path that liberates in a loving way

Let us do so
Let us pray for beauty in this world
Let us live to love
Let us live to love

Lyrics and vocals by Sandrine Blanc
Keyboard: James McCarty